Concho Valley CARES Coalition Appoints ASU Student Research Assistant

The Concho Valley CARES Coalition is pleased to announce the appointment of Ms. Haley J. Cornell as Student Research Assistant to help provide evaluation and information services to the coalition working to reduce substance abuse in the community.

Ms. Cornell hails from Ontario Canada and is now an ASU student majoring in sociology. She will work approximately 20 hours per week through the summer as part of the partnership between the CARES Coalition and Community Development Initiatives at the ASU Center for Community Wellness, Engagement and Development.

Cornell will assist in acquisition, preparation and reporting of statistical data related to substance abuse, and will help review and analyze important studies to draw out the relevance of recent scientific findings to the local community.

“Being a Student Research Assistant for CARES is very fulfilling,” Cornell said of her selection, “it is such a great way to meet people and gain experience in my field of study, so I am very thankful for the opportunity.”
